THE BEST EXCHANGE RATES

Using a specialist currency broker enables you to get a far better exchange rate than a high street bank

For anyone planning a luxury holiday, or considering an investment or expensive purchase abroad, there will inevitably be a number of foreign currency transactions to make.

Currency is often viewed as an afterthought, but what many people don’t realise, is that a specialist currency broker will be able to offer a far better service and a more competitive exchange rate than your bank.

Banks may claim to charge zero percent commission, but the exchange rates are usually poor compared to those available in the ‘wholesale’ currency markets. The bank will also levy a charge for making an international transfer, usually around £30. This can also be avoided by using an independent currency firm. For example, leading currency broker TorFX charge no commission, and the exchange rate will be up to 4% better than through the banks. Your currency will also be sent to its end destination free of charge, whether this is your own account, or perhaps you are paying funds direct to a developer or a holiday company. On a transaction of £10,000 this represents a saving of up to £430. On a larger transaction the savings are even more substantial.

Thousands of individuals, and hundreds of companies across the UK and abroad trust TorFX for their currency requirements and international transfers. Customers of TorFX benefit from dealing with a company that applies high standards of compliance, has a strong balance sheet and credit rating, and operates segregated client accounts with Barclays Bank Plc.

Opening an account is free, and you are able to buy or sell currency with one telephone call. Your personal TorFX currency consultant will be on hand to advise on your transactions, and if required you can book your currency up to one year in advance, protecting your purchase from the risk of adverse exchange rate movements (which could otherwise increase the cost in sterling terms).

Clients of TorFX use the service for property related transactions, payment for foreign holiday’s, importing/exporting a car, yacht or other expensive item, paying school fees, or using the TorFX Regular Payments Scheme to make monthly mortgage payments.

There are many reasons for making currency transactions, the one constant is that dealing currency through TorFX is a secure, simple, and stress free alternative to using a high street bank.
